04 · SEARCH TOPICS

Getting found by people who aren't searching for Synthetic Beta

Non-branded searches are the ones that don't include the business's name. These are people deciding where to go, and they are the new customers a business wants to reach.

Measured: Google Search Console, non-branded searches only

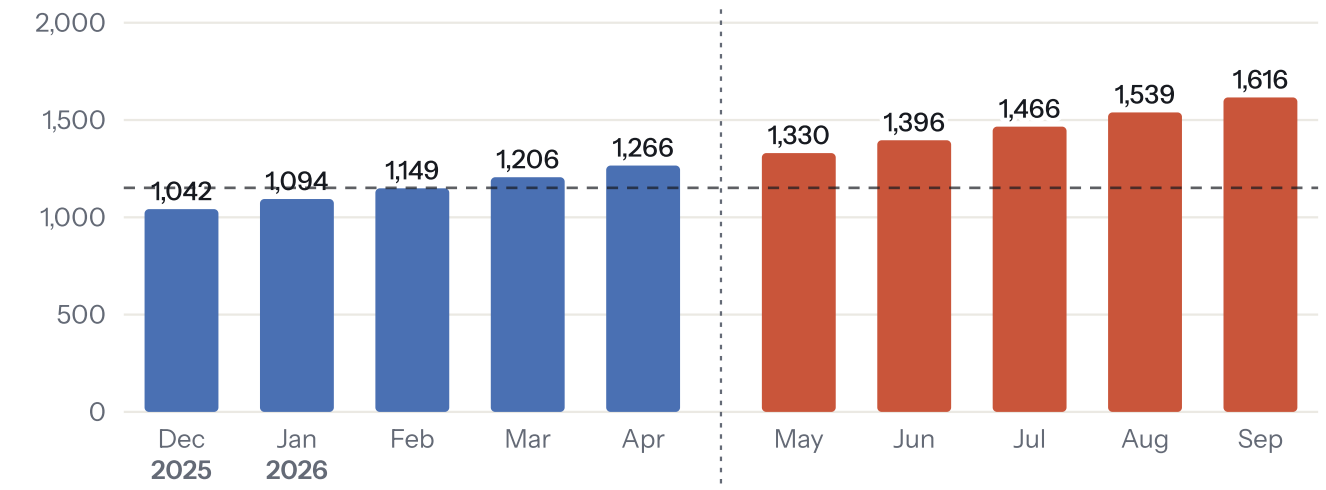

Searches in Google's top 10	Clicks to the website	Times shown in Google results
171	542	37,290

Results by search topic

TOPIC	TOP 10 SEARCHES	AVERAGE POSITION	CLICKS
Private events & groups rooftop venues, bachelorette party, rehearsal dinner	32	11.4	26
Happy hour little italy happy hour	10	10.9	64
Brunch brunch san diego, rooftop brunch	33	13.1	173
Little Italy & dining little italy bars, little italy restaurants	77	11.4	311

Position is where the site ranked on average; a lower number is higher on the page, and positions 1–10 are page one. Topics can overlap, so a search such as "little italy happy hour" can count in both. Added up from the highest-ranking searches Google reports each month, so these are not totals of every search.

- Average position. Where your pages ranked in Google Search on average, weighted by how often each appeared. Lower is better. Source: Google Search Console.
- Searches in Google's top 10. Searches that did not name the business, where the site appeared at least 20 times and ranked 10th or better on average. Position is weighted by how often the site appeared each month.
- Topics and gains. The searches are grouped into topics by wording, and each search is in one topic. A search gained ground when it ranks a place or more better than before, or is new to the site's rankings. Both are added up from the highest-ranking searches Google reports each month, not from every search.
- Branded searches. A search is branded when, ignoring capital letters, apostrophes and punctuation, it contains the name of the business (Synthetic Beta) or one of its locations. Common misspellings of the name are treated the same way. Branded searches are left out of the search results.
- Visits from search. Website visits that began with an unpaid Google search. Source: Google Analytics.

- Reviews.Counted from your Google reviews. Reviews Google no longer lists are not counted. Average rating covers all reviews up to the end of the period.
